Hi Eanna,

Please accept this letter as my expression of interest in the Android Developer position at Nine. I am a highly passionate developer who is also fun to work with with a long-standing background of contract and full-time roles among large companies and startups such as Huawei, RSA, ARQ Group (Melbourne & Brisbane offices), Department of transport, department of defense among many.

Throughout the course of my career, while I worked in these positions, I had to switch between countries at certain times, partly due to my visa ending, my family member's death during corona (with special exemption from home affairs to be able to leave Australia because we are not permitted to leave the country) or due to financial difficulties my startup company was having. These resulted in me having to switch around more often than I would ever really want to. I have submitted my citizenship application recently, I came back for the last time and I have absolutely no reason to leave my country, (nor am I able to now) and I want a stable, ongoing role in my career. I've spent 8 years in Queensland and 1 in Melbourne so far and I'm grateful for all the years which have been tough and a highly teaching, unusually diverse experience for me. Many of my former coworkers and friends are in Sydney and I am highly enthusiastic about the role in Nine.

I'm very much looking forward to a fresh, stable start as we have discussed and appreciate the chance to prove this ! Thank you.

Kind Regards,
